Welcome!

Dear Member:

The Oregon Health Plan (OHP) told Umpqua Health Alliance (UHA) that you are pregnant. UHA congratulates you on your pregnancy. We want to help you and your family have a healthy pregnancy experience. Our first step is to send you this letter.

Please see an Obstetric or Mid-Wife provider for medical care as soon as possible. Getting good care early in pregnancy is very important for you and your baby. Choose a provider who will care for you during your pregnancy, during your hospital stay and after delivery. Please make this choice now. See page 14 of this booklet for a list of available providers.

As soon as your baby is born, please tell your caseworker of the birth. Then, please call UHA Customer Care to tell us who will be your baby's Primary Care Provider (PCP). If you do not have a PCP or need help finding one for your baby, call UHA Customer Care at 541-229-4842, TTY 541-440-6304 or TTY 711.

Sincerely,
Umpqua Health Alliance

Dangers of Drug Use During Pregnancy

Marijuana and Your Baby

Information about marijuana use while pregnant, breastfeeding or caring for children

Marijuana and your baby

- Oregon adults can now legally use marijuana. However, marijuana has many chemicals that may hurt developing fetuses, babies and young children.
- You may be using marijuana to treat a medical condition, such as nausea, anxiety or pain. If so, ask your health care provider about other treatments that may be safer for you and your baby.

Marijuana, pregnancy and breastfeeding

There is no known safe level of marijuana use during pregnancy.

- THC is the chemical in marijuana that makes you feel “high”. It stays in your body fat for a long time. THC can pass to your baby if you use marijuana while pregnant or breastfeeding.
- THC may negatively affect babies’ developing brain and their ability to do well in school later.
- Using marijuana during pregnancy may increase the risk of stillbirth.

Child Safety

- If your child eats or drinks marijuana by accident, call the poison control hotline as soon as possible.
- If your child is not responding or seems very sick, call 911 or go to an emergency room right away.

Food Safety Information

It's Especially Important for You

Congratulations on your pregnancy! Food safety should be important to everyone, but as a pregnant woman it is especially important for you to learn how to protect yourself and your unborn baby from foodborne illness.

When you become pregnant, your body naturally undergoes hormonal changes, some of which also change your immune system, making you more susceptible to contracting a foodborne illness. The immune system is the body's natural reaction or response to "foreign invasion".

Smart Menu Choices
Higher Risk:	Lower Risk:
✗ Soft cheese made from unpasteurized (raw) milk.	✓ Hard or processed cheeses. Soft cheeses only if they are made from pasteurized milk.
✗ Refrigerated smoked seafood and raw or undercooked seafood.	✓ Fully cooked fish or seafood.
✗ Cold or improperly heated hot dogs.	✓ Hot dogs reheated to steaming hot. If the hot dogs are served cold or lukewarm, ask to have them reheated until steaming, or else choose something else.
✗ Sandwiches with cold deli or luncheon meat.	✓ Grilled sandwiches in which the meat or poultry is heated until steaming.
✗ Raw or undercooked fish, such as sashimi, non-vegetarian sushi, or cerviche.	✓ Fully cooked fish that is firm and flaky
✗ Soft-boiled or "over-easy" eggs, as the yolks are not fully cooked.	✓ Fully cooked eggs with firm yolk and whites.
✗ Salads, wraps, or sandwiches containing raw (uncooked) or lightly cooked sprouts	✓ Salads, wraps, or sandwiches containing cooked sprouts.

For more information about Food Safety, call the FDA Food Information Line: 1-888-SAFE FOOD (1-888-723-3366).

Immunization Information

Vaccines help protect you and your baby against serious diseases. When you get vaccines, you aren't just protecting yourself, you are giving your baby some early protection too.

Below is a list of CDC recommended immunizations. Please talk to your provider about which ones might be best for you. For more information, please visit <https://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/pregnancy/vacc-during-after.html>

- ☒ Whooping cough
- ☒ Flu
- ☒ COVID-19
- ☒ Respiratory syncytial virus (RSV)

Your provider may recommend you receive vaccines right after giving birth. Vaccination after pregnancy is especially important if moms did not receive certain vaccines before or during pregnancy. Please talk with your provider about options that are right for you.

As a parent with a new baby, we would like to give you a helpful checklist of CDC recommended immunizations for children from birth through 6 years old. For more information, and for vaccine age recommendations, visit <https://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/schedules/hcp/imz/child-adolescent.html>

Dental Care

Good Dental Health Is Important When Pregnant

When you're pregnant, you may be more prone to gum disease and cavities, which can affect your baby's health. Follow these 3 steps to protect your teeth:

1. See a dentist (it's safe!) before you deliver.
2. Brush your teeth twice a day.
3. Floss Daily.

If you have nausea, rinse your mouth with 1 teaspoon of baking soda in a glass of water after you get sick. This helps wash stomach acid away and keep your tooth enamel safe.

Dental Care for Babies

- Wipe gums twice a day with a soft, clean cloth in the morning after the first feeding and right before bed to wipe away bacteria and sugars that can cause cavities.
- When teeth come in, start brushing twice a day with a soft, small-bristled toothbrush and plain water.
- Visit the dentist by your baby's first birthday to spot signs of problems early.
- Talk to your dentist or doctor about putting fluoride varnish on your child's teeth as soon as the first tooth appears.
- For children younger than 2, consult first with your doctor or dentist regarding the use of fluoride toothpaste.

For more information, visit the CDC's website at <https://www.cdc.gov/oralhealth/basics/childrens-oral-health/index.html>

Vision

Your child's vision helps them take in the world around them, and plays an important role in their development.

Many vision problems begin at an early age, and you should make sure your child gets the recommended eye exams to help keep their eyes healthy. Healthy vision is important for your child's overall development and learning ability.

Your child's pediatrician will likely screen your child's vision as part of their regular checkups. If there signs of a vision problem, they may refer your child to an eye doctor for a more in-depth exam.

If you have any concerns about your child's vision, ask their pediatrician to help find you and eye doctor, or call UHA Customer Care at 541-229-4842. We can also help you find an eye doctor for yourself.

For more information, visit the CDC's website at <https://www.cdc.gov/visionhealth/resources/features/vision-health-children.html>

Members birth to under age 21, pregnant adults, adults up to 12 months post-partum are covered for

- Routine eye exams every 24 months and when needed.
- Medical eye exams when needed.
- Corrective lenses/accessories when needed.

Examples of medial eye conditions are aphakia, keratoconus, or after cataract surgery.

Diaper Changing

Even a tiny amount of poop, so small you can't see it, can contain millions of germs. Reduce the spread of germs by following the CDC's guidance below for safe and healthy diaper changing. For more information, visit <https://www.cdc.gov/hygiene/childcare/in-the-home.html>

Are you pregnant or a new parent and feeling sad, worried, overwhelmed, or concerned that you aren't good enough?

For support, understanding, and resources,
CALL OR TEXT 1-833-9-HELP4MOMS
(1-833-943-5746)

The new National Maternal Mental Health Hotline provides 24/7, free, confidential support, resources and referrals to any pregnant and postpartum mothers facing mental health challenges and their loved ones. The service is available via phone and text in English or Spanish.

Pregnancy and a new baby can bring a range of emotions. In fact, many women feel overwhelmed, sad, or anxious at different times during their pregnancy and even after the baby is born. For many women, these feelings go away on their own. But for some women, these emotions are more serious and may stay for months.

Positive Parenting Tips

Skills such as taking a first step, smiling for the first time, and waving "bye" are called developmental milestones. Developmental milestones are things most children can do by a certain age. Children reach milestones in how they play, learn, speak, behave, and move (like crawling, walking, or jumping). For more information, visit <https://www.cdc.gov/ncbddd/actearly/milestones/index.html>

The following are some things you, as a parent, can do to help your baby during this time:

- ♥ Talk to your baby. They will find your voice calming.
- ♥ Answer when your baby makes sounds by repeating the sounds and adding words. This will help them learn to use language.
- ♥ Read to your baby. This will help them develop and understand language and sounds.
- ♥ Sing to your baby and play music. This will help your baby develop a love for music and will help their brain development.
- ♥ Praise your baby and give them lots of loving attention.
- ♥ Spend time cuddling and holding your baby. This will help them feel cared for and secure.
- ♥ Play with your baby when they're alert and relaxed. Watch your baby closely for signs of being tired or fussy so that they can take a break from playing.
- ♥ Distract your baby with toys and move them to safe areas when they start moving and touching things that they shouldn't touch.
- ♥ Take care of yourself physically, mentally, and emotionally. Parenting can be hard work! It is easier to enjoy your new baby and be a positive, loving parent when you are feeling good yourself.
